

UCI World Gran Fondo Championships – Master’s Kit Eligibility, Purchase and Distribution

Published June 28th, 2023

Introduction

Per UCI Regulations, “It is mandatory for a rider to wear their national kit at the UCI Gran Fondo World Championships Time Trial, Team Relay and Road Race. Although the official national jersey is not required, a jersey representing their country with a similar design and colours as the original national team jersey is required.”

Those who have qualified for the 2023 UCI World Gran Fondo Championships in Glasgow, GBR, must wear a Cycling Canada-approved kit. There will be two kits that are allowed in competition: our current design or alternatively, riders are eligible to purchase our newly designed Masters Jersey from Cycling Canada’s online Store (available mid-July; sign up to receive an email alert when kits are available for purchase here).

Process

Riders who qualify through our 2023 Canadian Road Championships (Masters) will be contacted by Cycling Canada regarding next steps. Any other rider who qualifies through a UCI Grand Fondo World Series event can email Jacob.graper@cyclingcanada.ca for more information on kit distribution.

If you choose to purchase our newly designed kit, sign up to receive an email alert when they become available for purchase here. Your order will be shipped to Canada’s official designated Team Captain, Bruce Bird, who is overseeing the distribution of all the new kits in Glasgow. You will receive a confirmation email regarding the shipment of your order, as well as contact information for Bruce. Bruce will also receive all contact information for riders who purchase the kit.

In Glasgow, Bruce will set up a meeting location and time for everyone to receive their new kits prior to competition (extra sizes will be available during distribution).
