Safety and privacy features built in.

With advanced privacy and security built into the app you're in full control of the data you share.

Our algorithm hides your precise location, placing your pin randomly within a 1km radius of your true position.

Or, simply set your account to private so that you aren't listed on the map.

What's more, our 'women only' ride listings are only viewable by other female users.

You control who can see your profile and information.

We never show your exact location.
