

Cycling Canada Action Plan

Version Date – February 24, 2025

Overview

Cycling Canada was subject of a Sport Environment Assessment at the request of the Office of the Sport Integrity Commissioner. Cycling Canada remains committed to the implementation of measures, policies and practices strongly focused on culture, inclusion, and performance that will enable us to deliver on our purpose to inspire Canadians from all walks of life to ride with us.

The Sport Environment Assessment report provided key recommendations that is grounded in several areas of focus for Cycling Canada’s Action Plan.

Human Resources	Communication
Increased capacity in Human Resources	Enhanced communication channels
Mentorship Networks	Education and Training
Continued commitment to female staff mentorship programs and professional development	Increased education and training programs

Human Resources

Cycling Canada has increased capacity in Human Resources by contracting a third-party HR consulting group to support the organization through a comprehensive human resource audit, reviewing relevant policies and procedures, as well as a cultural audit to review existing culture survey metrics and action plans.

The HR consulting group will be retained on an ongoing basis as an integral part of our team. Their role within our team will be to provide ongoing feedback to and on leadership as well as to support staff with their inquiries, concerns, and complaints.

Action Item	Timeline for Completion
HR Audit	September 2024
Culture Survey	by June 2025

Communication

Cycling Canada is committed to a culture of communication, where people can share openly within the organization and feel comfortable approaching management with concerns or suggestions. This year, in addition to weekly team meetings, we've initiated monthly all staff meetings aligned with Board of Director meetings to communicate more effectively with all staff.

Supervisors are also scheduling frequent check-ins with staff and holding "ask me anything" meetings to give more opportunity for employees to ask questions and engage with leadership.

Action Item	Timeline for Completion
Monthly all staff meetings	On going
In person all staff meeting*	by February 2025

* Subject to availability of funds

Mentorship Networks

In January this year, Cycling Canada initiated a female mentorship group designed to provide a platform for listening, learning, sharing, and supporting one another in career and life. These initiatives offer junior staff valuable insights, guidance, and support from experienced colleagues.

In addition, numerous coaches and senior leaders within the organization are enrolled in mentorship and leadership initiatives with sport partners such as the Canadian Olympic Committee's Emerging Leaders Program and Own the Podium Pursuit. These efforts are part of our ongoing commitment to fostering professional growth and leadership development within the sport community.
