HOW TO APPLY

To apply for any Privateer or Independent spot (see Event Definitions in appendix), athletes must meet the criteria below and complete one of the following online forms by the application deadlines listed on the Cycling Canada (CC) website:

- Privateer and Independent athletes
- UCI Mountain Bike XCO Junior Series
- Enduro World Championships

INTRODUCTION

Cycling Canada has developed this policy to set the conditions and standards for athletes to represent Canada as an Independent or Privateer.

For certain international competitions, athletes may participate without being part of a trade team or a National Team project, but are required by the UCI regulations to either wear their national team uniform; be registered by their national federation; be given a start position as part of a limited quota by nation; or some combination of all three.

CC refers to these athletes as either Independent or Privateers, based on whether the National Team uniform is required by the UCI regulations, as follows:

- Independent Athletes: Athletes who are not required to wear the National Team uniform but require CC support to secure a quota spot and/or to register for an international event.
- Privateer Athletes: Athletes who are required to wear the National Team uniform at an international event but who are not part of a National Team project.

A list of the different events this policy applies to, and the various requirements for each one, can be found in the Appendix.

Whether Privateer or Independent, athletes are responsible for all costs related to attending the event, including but not limited to entry fees, travel, accommodation, meals, logistics, insurance and, if required, purchasing their National Team uniform. They are also responsible for arranging their own therapy, medical and mechanical support, including at events where the Canadian team is also present. Cycling Canada's support will be limited to registering athletes for the event and providing clothing at cost (if required by the UCI regulations).

Canada has a limited quota in certain events. The criteria used to allocate these quota spots can be found below.

All Canadians competing in international events, in particular those wearing the National Team uniform, are representing Canada on the world stage and have a responsibility to uphold the image and reputation of Canada in the global cycling community, so it's important for all athletes to be good ambassadors for Canada and for the sport of cycling.

Please note that cycling is a high-risk sport, and it's important that any athlete travelling to compete internationally have access to support in the event of an emergency. These requirements are detailed below.

Please note the UCI regulations and calendar are continually evolving and may affect this policy at any time. If you have any questions, please contact privateers@cyclingcanada.ca.

SCOPE OF POLICY

This policy applies only to athletes who wish to participate as Independents or Privateers in the elite, U23 and junior (U19) classes in the events listed in the Appendix.

Athletes participating in international events as part of a National Team project are not covered by this policy unless specified below.

Excluded events

Independent and Privateer spots are not available at the following events:

- UCI XCO and DHI Mountain Bike World Championships (National Teams Only).
Note: some athletes may attend with the support of their Trade Teams as Privateers, but they must still meet the relevant selection criteria and be nominated by Cycling Canada; please see the XCO and DHI selection policies for more details.

- UCI Track Nations Cups (National Teams only)
- UCI Track World Championships (National Teams only)
- UCI BMX World Championships (junior, U23, elite) (National Teams only)

- UCI Esports World Championships (see separate policy)

Note that this information can change at any time based on updates to the UCI regulations or calendars, and new events may arise that do not fit the scope of this policy. Please contact privateers@cyclingcanada.ca if you have any questions whether this policy applies to the event you wish to attend.
